

G.D.GOENKA PUBLIC SCHOOL

Subject : English Date: August 30, 2021

Aspect: Supporting Content - Week 6 part I

Chapter no. 21 Essay Writing

English Grammar Book page no. 120-122

This pdf is not to be printed.

Date of issuance: 30-8-2021

Completion Date: 1-9-2021

Instructions: Recall the concept of Essay Writing as taught in the virtual class, go through the below given guidelines and Essay on the topic, "I wish Everyday was a Sunday". Once done write an Essay on your Sunday Routine in your English B notebook.

An essay is a composition on a particular topic which is written to express opinions or feelings on a topic or describe an experience, a person, or an idea.

Essay Guidelines:

Let's us review the guidelines we learnt to write good essays.

- Always draw an outline map or a concept map before starting to write an essay, it will help you to provide form and structure to your essay.
- Divide your essay into sections- The three major sections of an essay are, the introduction, the body and the conclusion.
- One introductory paragraph, three body paragraphs and one concluding paragraph.
- Avoid using informal words.
- Avoid repeating the same points or ideas more than once in your essay.
- Give details and examples to make your essay more effective.
- Lastly, read your essay again, check grammar and spelling errors. Such errors can make even a well written essay look ineffective.

I wish every day was a Sunday

This day comes after a long wait of six days. Sundays come with a lot of happiness, especially for students. It is such a relief from hurried mornings of weekdays. I get up late on a Sunday morning. My mother also gives me relaxation in the "Early to bed and early to rise" schedule. She prepares one of my favourite dishes for the special Sunday breakfast.

(Introductory Paragraph)

I take a bath unlike a hurried one every other day. It is also a day when all members of my family spend quality time with each other. I get to play with my friends. Unlike weekdays, on Sundays many children are seen playing different games in the community playground.

Mother calls me for lunch, but it is only when she herself appears at the scene that I go back home. I wish Sundays were a bit longer than 24 hours.

My parents check my notebooks and other assignments which are to be completed. I try to complete my homework as fast as possible. I never miss my favourite cartoons show on TV. It is the best source of entertainment. Sometimes, I invite my friends and cousins to visit my home.

(Body Paragraphs)

In the evening, when we sit for dinner, thought of getting early again for the next morning makes me feel sad. Before going to sleep, I bid a sad goodbye to my dear Sunday and wish it comes again as soon as possible.

A Sunday is, indeed, an excellent holiday. (Concluding Paragraph)